THE STORY BEHIND THE COMPANY

ISABEY collective.

The Isabey Collective is the evolution of 4 companies coming together, creating a complete home solution. We have responded to the massive changes that have occurred in the past decade, developing into an all-encompassing business that runs the gamut from the foundational elements of a home (literally) down to those final finishing touches. This gives clients the convenience of dealing with a single professional group. At the Isabey Collective you will experience the boutique approach of client service with the depth of a multi-talented, highly accredited group of design and building professionals. We collaborate to create functional spaces with leading edge design, always with your budget in mind.

We are a purposeful design company...

Our clients count on us for decisive answers and assertive problem solving. They have come to expect, and we demand of ourselves, the excellence to provide knowledgeable and opinionated responses to all of their design needs.

Isabey, like any well designed home, was built with a strong foundation of ‘people first’ approach.

TRISHA Isabey.

Trisha Isabey is an award-winning Designer, Founder and Creative Director at Isabey Interiors. This sought-after designer shares more than a decade of experience, with a diverse and extensive portfolio including custom homes, multi-family developments and commercial projects. Her multi award-winning company specializes now in both residential and commercial designs, focusing on personality and style, while maximizing function and liveability.

Trisha’s background as a professional stockbroker and financial planner made way for a career in interior design - not a huge stretch, given that her business acumen was matched only by her love of design. After more than a decade in the investment industry, she became an interior designer and founded Kelowna-based interior design firm Isabey Interiors.

At the core of every Isabey Interiors concept is the Intention of Design.

WHAT ARE THE RIGHT PARTS

ISABEY collective.

Think of your build as an orchestra, where each individual member plays a pivotal role in bringing the score to life. A design + build project operates much in the same way with the goal of being in perfect harmony. Like any good piece of music you need the right parts.

COLLABORATIVE BUILD + DESIGN

ISABEY interiors.

Isabey Interiors is an award-winning design company based in Kelowna BC, specializing in both residential and commercial designs. That is what we do, but not who we are. We are a team of individuals who care about our projects. We approach each design with the same objective - to ensure our clients' needs are met, and to do what we can to make it an enjoyable process. Your project should reflect your needs and who you are - that is what will make you fall in love with your space. There are notable differences in working with Isabey Interiors. You will work with more than one designer on a renovation project, new home build, or commercial space. The entire process is considered at the very beginning - landscape design, furniture planning and more. This will provide you with the best result for your project.

ISABEY home.

At Isabey Home we have assembled a group of professionals to collaborate and work together to make the Design + Build process seamless and efficient. Our team of interior designers, project managers and general contractors collaborate under one contract to create a home build process with best practices, cost savings and expertise that create beautifully designed homes with outstanding quality. Delays are mitigated by our ability to layer pieces of the process on top of each other while moving your project forward. Customer service is our number one priority, our process is transparent and flexible and you will have access to your project and all its details throughout the timeline. You will be a partner in the process, with experts in each area to guide your ideas and create a home you will be proud of.

We're here to help you reimagine your work and living spaces.

DESIGN + BUILD PROCESS

Design + build.

THE ADVANTAGES TO DESIGN + BUILD

In the traditional build process each component is broken down into a separate step in which the project owner hires the architect or designer and the construction contractor separately.

At Isabey Home the design+build process creates a united, cohesive team, with one entity that the project owner contracts. Each build is led by our project managers who oversee the project in its entirety and carry full responsibility for the work.

This approach is essential to the collaboration between the design and construction teams. Under this method, the contractor provides valuable insight into the design as far as constructability and value engineering, so together they can create cost-effective solutions and variations on the design and materials. Because Isabey Home assumes complete project responsibility from design, to costs, to schedule, this method is the least time consuming for our clients and minimizes designer-contractor conflicts since they are on the same team. Additionally, the design + build approach offers greater cost certainty, an accelerated project schedule, custom design, increased quality, and greater peace of mind.
